

ELIGIBILITY

The Business School will consider applications from exchange students with the following status:

Erasmus Students

To be eligible for an Erasmus exchange with Exeter you must:

- be a nominated by your home University
- be a registered student at one of our Erasmus Partner Universities

A nomination is a letter/email confirming that you have been chosen as an exchange student under the agreement and should be sent to the main International Office inbound@exeter.ac.uk

Study Abroad/International Exchange

If you are a student at one of our exchange partners and you are interested in applying to study at the University of Exeter for a semester or a year, you should speak to the International Office at your home university. They will be able to advise you on their selection process and procedures.

Visiting/Occasional Students

If you are not a student at one of our exchange partners, you will require permission from your home University if your period of study at Exeter is to be taken as part of your degree.

- The agreement of modules you will study is yours and your home university's responsibility only
- The University of Exeter cannot guarantee module availability, so you should ensure that your home university is flexible with your study options
- The modules you are taking will be finalised upon arrival and registration with the University of Exeter Business School.

All queries about fees payable should be directed to the International Development Team via Business-School-Exchanges@exeter.ac.uk

APPLICATION

On receipt of your application, you will receive a conditional acceptance from the University of Exeter International Office.

ACADEMIC ISSUES

- Lectures and tutorials
 - Attendance: Mandatory
 - Class size: 20-350 depending on module
 - Language of instruction: English
 - Assessment Methods: dependent on module but may include a combination of:
 - Exam
 - Individual/Group Coursework/Assignment
 - Modules are taught over a full academic year or over one semester
- Students are expected to be in Exeter during assessment periods. Due to large student numbers we are normally unable to make alternative assessment arrangements

Normal Study Load

Full Year study period: 120 Exeter Credits / 60 ECTS (any combination of semester and academic year long modules possible)

One Semester study period: 60 Credits / 30 ECTS (only with semester long modules)

In principle, exchange students can select modules from across the University of Exeter, subject to meeting the necessary pre-requisite academic requirements, and gaining approval from their home institution as well as the University of Exeter. Erasmus students may not take more than 25% of their modules from outside the Business School.

Undergraduate students are not permitted to select postgraduate modules, but postgraduate students may select undergraduate modules (subject to approval of the home University).

MARKING CRITERIA FOR UNDERGRADUATE MODULES

Undergraduate marking criteria

These criteria apply to course work and examinations alike. They are meant as an indication of what is required, rather than a check list. Thus students should not necessarily have to meet all the requirements for a category to get the grade (some aspects of their work may be better and some worse).

Mark Range	Comment
80 to 100	All the criteria for 1st, plus outstanding analytical power or originality of ideas
70-79	Clear and stylish writing. Very thorough knowledge of the material. Excellent critical assessment. Well structured and organised. Empirical data very well analysed and integrated in assessed work, or All the criteria for 2:1, plus substantial originality of ideas
60-69	Clear writing with a well-defined focus, reflecting a good working knowledge of the material and good competence in its critical assessment. Well-structured and organised. Appropriate methodology. Empirical data and experimental work well analysed and integrated in assessed work
50-59	Acceptable level of self-expression based on adequate working knowledge of material. Satisfactory structure and organisation of material. Appropriate methodology. Satisfactory analysis of empirical data and experimental work
40-49	Limited level of self-expression based on core material. Quality of writing inconsistent. Structure and organisation adequate at best. Unimaginative use made of appropriate methodology. Limited use of empirical and experimental results.
39% and below	Fail. Lacking in basic knowledge and critical ability. Inappropriate methodology or poor application of appropriate methodology. Major defects in writing and reporting of empirical data and experimental results

Please note, for undergraduate modules the pass mark (in order to gain credits) is 40%.

MARKING CRITERIA FOR POSTGRADUATE MODULES

Postgraduate marking criteria

The marking criteria shown below are recommended as a framework for all disciplines within which assessment conventions specific to individual programmes and related to their learning outcomes should be developed.

Mark Range	Comment
70% and above	Distinction. Work of near publishable standard reflecting outstanding knowledge of material and critical ability.
60-69%	Merit. Work with a well-defined focus, reflecting a good working knowledge of material and good level of competence in its critical assessment.
50-59%	Pass. Work demonstrating adequate working knowledge of material and evidence of some analysis.
40-49%	Condonable fail. Limited knowledge of core material and limited critical ability.
39% and below	Fail. Lacking in basic knowledge and critical ability

Please note, for postgraduate modules the pass mark (in order to gain credits) is 50%.
