*Students at Sussex for autumn only who are unable to stay for the January assessment period can take alternative assessments in December, though some submissions may be due in January. Alternative assessments are only available if the normal assessment would be an unseen, in-person, exam in January; if the normal assessments are coursework, essays, presentations, etc, then the normal assessment has to be taken/submitted.

Note – there are a few Economics modules where an alternative assessment is not available and an unseen, in-person, exam in January is compulsory.

Students at Sussex for full year must take all normal assessments. Alternative assessments are not permitted and students must attend both mid-year and end of year assessment periods. Unseen, in-person, exams can be held up to and including the last day of the summer term.
